I am a recent Graduate of Thompson Rivers University, majoring in Geography and Environmental Science, with a focus on sustainability. I have research in green building materials and indigenous/traditional agricultural practices to adapt innovative techniques to help improve community settings. I minored in history with a focus on the 20th century of the New World, including History of Canada, Colonialism, and the Cold War. I also ascertained my TESOL certification, which has expanded my intercultural competency in hopes to expand my linguistic capabilities.
